1 Introduction

Honda Racing Drivers Club NZ (HRDCNZ) recognizes the importance of the increased usage of electronic media to communicate and encourages responsible and ethical online behaviour.

Social media brings with it the increased risk of doing or saying things to which others might take offence. Due to the immediate nature of communication to a wide audience using channels such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Tik Tok etc., participants must be mindful to avoid inappropriate use, whether unintended or simply without a proper understanding that once comments are made or published, they are hard to retract.

This policy sets out a framework for acceptable online behaviour where communication involves fellow members, volunteers, officials, crew and anyone else connected with our Series.

2 Purpose

2.1 It is important that the reputation of the Honda Cup, HRDCNZ, its members and officials (hereafter referred to as the Series) are not tarnished by anyone using social media tools inappropriately. When someone clearly identifies their association with the Series, and/or discusses their involvement in this type of forum, they are expected to behave and express themselves appropriately, and in ways that are consistent with the Constitution – Purposes of the Club.

2.2 This policy provides guidelines to assist respectful and knowledgeable interaction with people on social media, internet pages and other online forms. It also protects the privacy, confidentiality and interests of current and potential members.

2.3 This policy does not apply to the personal use of electronic communications and social media platforms by Series members or representatives where the user is referring to issues other than the Series.

3 Guiding Principles

3.1 The web is not anonymous. Everyone associated with the Series should assume that everything they write can be traced back to them.

3.2 Due to the unique nature of our sport, the boundaries between a member's profession, volunteer time and social life can often be blurred. It is therefore essential that members make a clear distinction between what they do in a professional capacity and what they do, think or say in their capacity as a member or volunteer for the Series.

3.3 Honesty is always the best policy. It is important to think of social media as a permanent record of online actions and opinions. Even when an item is deleted from a particular site it continues to exist in some form somewhere.

3.4 When using social media, all members must respect the Series brand to ensure sponsors and stakeholders are not compromised and that the Organization is not brought into disrepute.

4 Usage

4.1 Series members, officials and representatives using social media:

- Must not post or link to defamatory or harassing content. This also applies to the use of illustrations or nicknames.
- Must not comment on or publish information that is confidential or in any way sensitive to the Series, its affiliates, partners or sponsors.
- Must not bring the Series or HRDCNZ into disrepute.
- Must not make threats of any kind to Series members.

4.2 Series members, officials and representatives may not use the Series brand to endorse or promote any product, opinion or cause; and it must be abundantly clear to all readers that any and all opinions shared are those of the individual, and do not represent or reflect the views of the Series.

5 Cautions

- Do not include personal information about yourself or others in social media channels.
- Do not use offensive or hateful language.
- Use your best judgment – do not publish something that makes you the slightest bit uncomfortable and never write or publish if you are feeling emotional or upset (or are intoxicated).
- Be aware of other people or brand images in photos that may not wish to be associated with your opinions and/or discussions.
- Be considerate to others, do not post information when you have been asked not to. Remove information about another person if that person asks you to do so.

6 Consultation and advice

This policy has been developed to provide guidance for Series members, officials and representatives in a new era of technology-enabled social interaction. Anyone who is unsure of their rights, responsibilities, liabilities or actions online and is seeking clarification should contact a HRDCNZ committee member.

7 Complaints

If you consider a Series member, official or representative has breached this policy, you should report that concern, in writing, to the HRDCNZ committee, who will determine the appropriate action.

Appendix 'D' – MSNZ Code of Driving Conduct*

The following are guidelines to clarify situations that can occur during races.

*See Motorsport New Zealand Code of Driving Conduct

There are 2 overriding principles that apply at all times:

Firstly, a driver must not cause an avoidable accident.

Secondly, drivers must give each other "racing room"

- 1 General - the responsibility for passing another car safely rests with both drivers. The overtaken driver should be aware that he/she is being passed, he/she must not impede the pass by blocking and both drivers must give each other racing room.
- 2 Right to the line - the driver in front has the right to choose his/her line on the track so long as it is not considered blocking. A passing driver only has the right to their own line when they can make a pass without contact and there is adequate room to achieve it.
- 3 Blocking - a driver may choose to protect his or her position so long as they do not block. Blocking is defined as 2 consecutive line changes on a straight to protect their position and in doing so, impede the vehicle that is trying to pass. Drivers are prohibited at all times from changing lines in a corner.
- 4 Car to Car Contact - contact between cars when passing, resulting in one car having an off-track excursion or one car gaining an advantage is not permitted. Late diving to the inside of a corner to pass or attempt to pass is not permitted if contact with another car results.
- 5 Racing Room - in the situation where a car is required to give "racing room" - it is defined as a full car width between the subject car and the edge of the track or another car.

Figure 1.

Car B is attempting to pass car A, going into a left-hand corner. There is contact between the 2 cars at point 2. At that point car A has the right to his line through the corner and car B is not able to maintain their line without contact. Car B caused contact, so car B is at fault.

Figure 2.

Car B is attempting to pass Car A going into left hand corner. There is contact between the 2 cars at point 3. Car A is holding his line and leaves room for car B to make the pass, car B has an obligation to make the pass without contact, car B is at fault.

Figure 3.

Car B is attempting to pass car A going into left hand corner. There is contact between the 2 cars at point 3. Car A is holding the line and car B has pushed its way into a gap that isn't there. Fault lies with car B.

Figure 4.

Car B is attempting to pass car A into a left hand corner. There is contact between the two cars at point 3. Car A has already turned in and is committed to the corner. Car B is attempting a last-minute pass and ends up locking all four wheels and sliding into the side of Car A. This is a collision possibly resulting from poor judgement and over aggressive driving on the part of car B. Car B is at fault.

Figure 5.

Car B is attempting to pass car A on the inside of a tight right-hand turn. At points 3 and 4, car B has pulled alongside car A and clearly has the right to be there. There is no excuse for the driver of car A not to see car B- at point 5. He has not given car B racing room. Fault lies with car A.

Figure 6.

This is similar to Figure 5; however, car A regains the lead and control of the line after point 6. Car B makes contact with the side of his nose to the rear of the tail of car A with the real possibility of spinning him causing car A to leave the circuit. Fault lies with car B for this contact.

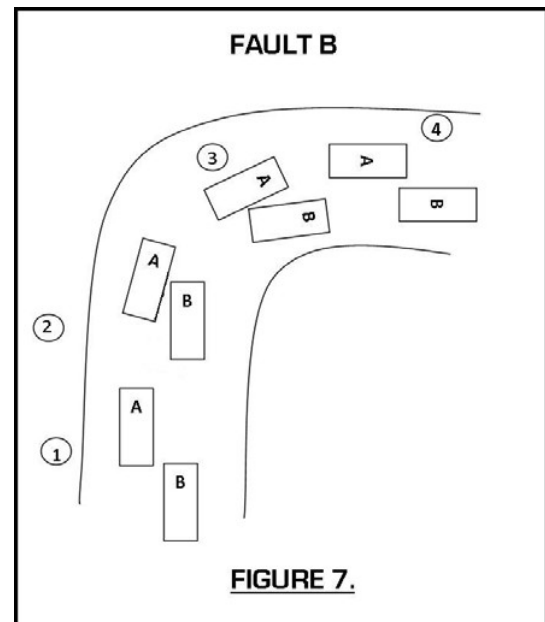

Figure 7.

Car B attempts to make a pass on car A. At point 2, all is ok as both cars have racing room. However at point 3 the driver of car B loses control of the rear of his car and makes contact with the side of car A. This might normally be considered a racing incident however, it could be considered that car B was overdriving, fault would likely to lie with car B as it gained an advantage through contact.

Figure 8.

Car B attempts to make an inside pass but misses the turn in point probably due to overdriving and continues straight ahead. The driver of car A is expecting the pass and has allowed car B plenty of room. Car A makes the assumption that car B will turn in at the normal turn in point and the result is contact at point 3. Fault is with car B.
